"Eat, Drink--And Be Entertained"

After the various sporting events of the day were over, and the students had suffered through the parent-teacher discussions over little Johnnie's marks in General Science and other warnings received by our diligent scholars, everyone began to make his way towards the dining room where a delicious buffet supper awaited them, prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Glines and the kitchen staff. By 7:00 o'clock about 500 parents and students had been served a meal consisting of salads, baked beans, ham, cold meats and Ma's homemade rolls. Many compliments were passed on the supper as the families headed to the William Bingham Gymnasium where a variety program was about to start. To open the show, Mr. Ireland, assisted by Mr. Thompson at the piano, led the audience in singing some of the old favorites, ranging from "Davy Crockett" to "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." The building shook as fun-loving parents joined in harmonizing the tunes; some of the Dads sounded like Caruso himself. Next, six mothers, volunteered by their offspring, tried their skill at driving nails, left-handed, into solid maple planks. Mrs. Chase was the winner of this contest.

Throughout the program many accomplished soloists added to the splendor of the show: Dawne Christie at the piano, playing "Claire de Lune" by Debussy; Charles Merrill singing "Juanita"; Bill Taillon at the bongo drums; Louise Kennedy on the accordion, and Jimmy Bennett on the trombone. Mr. T. Bill Taillon and Jim Hill formed a trio consisting of piano, drums, and "the bass."

Three parent-couples split up with the ladies on one side of the stage and the men on the other to play a game of charades. Instead of acting the characters out, Mrs. Ashcraft and Mr. Vinton drew them on blackboards, producing some interesting art creations. The men came out on top in this contest.

Next Jane Coffin and Holly Cotton were brought up from the audience to participate in the popular TV game of 21. Everyone was required to use his imagination as the contestants held their hands over their ears for sound-proof booths; the audience was told that "Sculpins," the cigarette with the clam flat smell, was the best for you. Shakespeare probably turned over in his grave as Mr. Cotton proudly announced that the quotation "To Thine Own Self Be True," comes from the Gould Academy study hall.

The glee clubs, under the direction of Mr. Marcuse, ended the program with excellent renditions of "Jacob's Ladder," "The Green Cathedral," and "Wonderbar," from "Kiss Me Kate," by Cole Porter.

After the show, there was general dancing, started by two spot dances and a waltzing contest between the parents. Dudley and Mrs. Houghton won the mother-son dance and Sue and Mr. Merrill won the father-daughter dance. Mr. and Mrs. Orday won the waltzing contest.

When the dance was over, fond adieus were heard throughout the campus as the students headed back to the respective dormitories, feeling that the annual Parents' Day Program had been a happy and successful occasion.

SUN-UP SNACK FOR HUNGRY SHUT-INS

On Saturday morning, September 28th, fifteen sleepy-eyed girls from Gehring Hall rolled out of bed at 8:30, bundled themselves up in warm clothes, and courageously braved the cold as they moved their way down to the dorm's outdoor fireplace.

A few energetic souls, namely Sue Merrill, Mimi Ashcraft, Sue Appleton, and Anita Morel, accompanied by Miss MacDougal, had risen early and by the time the others arrived, the bacon was already sizzling in the pan and its delicious aroma mixed with the smell of crisp French toast filled the air.

Everyone literally stuffed themselves with the food on hand, especially the fresh doughnuts and steaming cocoa.

After all appetites were satisfied, the girls, except for the freshmen who were left to clean up, poor things, made their way back to the dorm to make ready for Saturday morning inspection.

GIRLS -- THIS IS GOULD

In order to introduce new Gould girls to the many activities going on about campus, an All-Girl Assembly was held Thursday, September 5, in the William Bingham Gym. Miss MacDougal, Dean of Girls, presented the new and old teachers to the girls, giving a resume of their parts in school life and extra curricular groups. She then outlined the two goals which the faculty will strive for this year—(1) better grades for all girls and (2) more participation in activities.

A girl representing each organization explained briefly about her group's aims and activities. Those organizations represented were the Girls Athletic Association, F. H. A., the three glee clubs, band, cheerleading, dramatics, French club, Student Council, and the Blue and Gold.

This year, for the first time, every new girl had a "big sister" to show her around and acquaint her with the rules. At

NEW FACES AT GOULD

With the opening of school a record enrollment was announced. Unfortunately in the 322 students the girls outnumber the boys.

The classes are as follows:

|            | Boys | Girls | Total |
|------------|------|-------|-------|
| Freshmen   | 32   | 45    | 77    |
| Sophomores | 42   | 32    | 74    |
| Juniors    | 36   | 55    | 91    |
| Seniors    | 30   | 60    | 90    |

Among the many states and countries from which our students hail are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Ohio, Delaware, California, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Costa Rica, Honduras, and Saudi Arabia. Maine has the most students enrolled; however, Massachusetts has a large number also.

The close of the assembly, each "big sister" introduced her "little sister" to those nearby. The idea proved quite successful in building friendships early between the classes. It is hoped these friends will continue throughout the years to come.

... And in the Afternoon

PARENTS' DAY TEA

On Saturday, October 5th, between the hours of four and five o'clock, the traditional Parents' Day Tea was held in the William Bingham Gymnasium. This afforded an opportunity for the parents to discuss their sons and daughters with the teachers. Two hundred thirty-six parents attended the tea.

Mrs. Ireland and Mrs. Bowhay greeted everyone as they entered the gymnasium. Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Vachon had charge of the guest book, where each parent signed his name. Coffee, cookies and cider were poured by Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Ames, and Mrs. Ault. The faculty wives assisting were Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Hillier, Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Fossett, Mrs. Brewster, and Mrs. Myers.

STUDENT DANCE

After the football game on Saturday, October 5th, the students ambled over to Holden Hall for a get-together. Cider and doughnuts were served by Mr. Thompson as refreshments. Mr. Scott and Miss Duffy, acting as chaperones, greeted the boys' parents as they entered Holden Hall, while the students lounged around the living room and recreation room laughing, talking, and just having fun.

Many thanks to Charlotte Westleigh, Virginia Mason, and Mrs. Lowell, for their indispensable help in preparing and serving refreshments; also to the faculty and their wives for the effort which they put forth to make this an enjoyable occasion for the parents.

CHARACTERS IN CLAY

On Friday, September 27, Mr. Raymond G. Borgardus brought his unique program of sculpturing in clay to Gould. He has accomplished a novel feat in bringing clay to the public platform as an entertainment medium.

Mr. Borgardus, employing a type of pottery clay from northern New Jersey which has been in use for many years, said that it takes nearly two weeks for eighty pounds of clay to dry.

To make the program more interesting, humor and action were cleverly brought in. The fact that clay can be both harmful and helpful, was surprising to many. If it is allowed to dry on ones hands, they chap and bleed; however, if one has an infected cut or snakebite, clay will take the poison out and heal it quickly.

As he sculptured, Mr. Borgardus described each phase of his work, and brought in many things that would be of interest to students.

Special illumination was used with eerie effect. The first character was a small boy of about ten or twelve. Then came the face of a boy about 18 or 20, clearly showing the amazing changes that take place during this period of growth; he starts studying not in textbooks, but in other fields! Suddenly our character appears as a man of 60 or 65. Lastly, he is an old gentleman of 80.

By the way, did you know that

ECUADOR COMES TO GOULD

On Tuesday, September 17, Mr. Carlos Molina spoke to the Gould students and faculty on his native country, Ecuador.

First, Mr. Molina located points of interest on a large map he had on the stage, and also explained about the terrain of his country.

In order that everyone might have a better understanding of his people and their work, he then showed colorful slides of the latter, each indicating unusual traits or methods of their life.

The varied questions from faculty and students brought forth many additional details on the subject.

Mr. Molina himself seemed to have profited from his lecture, having become more familiar with the English tongue, which he has been speaking only since April.

clay weighs approximately 121 pounds per cubic foot.

Next, Mr. Borgardus sculptured a famous frontiersman, Colonel William Cody (better known as Buffalo Bill). Other famous faces such as General Robert E. Lee and Alexander Graham Bell were formed under his nimble fingers.

To wind up his fascinating program, Mr. Borgardus sculptured the symbol of Minerva, Goddess of Wisdom; it was a wise old owl with flashing eyes.

Where Have You Been All My Life?

The old saying reads, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." Similarly, "As the Get Acquainted Dance goes, so goes Gould's social life for the remainder of the year."

This year, on September sixth, even the moths had a gala time cavorting around the bright lights which illuminated the upper tennis court where the dance was held. Loud speakers were hung precariously from the fence surrounding the courts; they were part of the equipment belonging to Ray Hillman, the man who made the night a success with his fine square and round dances. Mr. Hillman's loud, clear voice and calling prevented many of the usual mix ups during the dancing.

To the spectators, of whom there were many because of a calamitous situation here at Gould this year wherein the girls outnumber the boys to some degree, it was pleasant just to listen to the spirited music, join in the hand clapping, and survey the colorful attire of the whirling dancers. These costumes varied from a purple, velvet pant and shirt set to many gayly striped shirts, bermudas, and slacks.

A pleasant time was had by all, and there were many sighs when the music stopped and all departed.

Gould Academy's social life for the year beginning September third, 1957, had begun with a bang.

IT WAITS FOR NO MAN

How often do you pick up a five dollar bill and throw it in the fire place to see it burn? Undoubtedly, the occasions are rare; yet the far more precious element called time is squandered with nary a second thought.

In every moment of every day you are either building or destroying some part of your mind, your body, your friendships, or your reputation by what you say and do.

Many of us, now juniors and seniors, have begun to realize, perhaps too late, that these comparatively carefree years of study, football games, dances, sports and unlimited opportunity will never again be ours.

If only you freshmen, with four years yet to go, could get a step ahead of the game by beginning now to make the most of every moment, you would derive a satisfaction and value from your high school years that will prove invaluable in the years ahead.

INDIVIDUALISM

"I don't think he would make a good president either!"

This statement is quite typical these days. Some time within the next six weeks, all of our organizations will select a slate of officers for the ensuing year. Let's stop and consider the opening sentence. Is that the true sentiment of the speaker? Does he really feel that this person is incapable of carrying out the office of president to an advantage? Possibly so.

On the other hand, this may be another example of that omnipresent "follow-the-leader" sentiment. In any group there is usually one person who exerts a tremendous influence over the others. Of course, in some cases, this may work out to an advantage if this leader is clear-thinking and unprejudiced in his opinions.

Unfortunately, this is not always the case. Too often this leader has definite ideas based on only his own likes and dislikes. Under such circumstances, the whole group of "followers" is "led" in the wrong direction, which may be very harmful to all concerned.

"What may one conclude from all this?" you might ask.

Only this: Individualism is one of the greatest traits of character bequeathed to man. If you can stand up and voice your opinion to those whom you know to be wrong or to have formed their opinions on petty prejudices, you have come a long way towards becoming a useful citizen.

Think! Form your own opinions! Make up your own mind to do something; then do it! Be an individual, not a satellite of another!

HERALDS OF BLUE AND GOLD

The halls of Gould echo with a challenge to all freshmen of the Blue and Gold. This challenge is not just of the past but of the present and future. You, the new freshmen, come from many towns, cities and states. You come bewildered, yet stay to be enlightened by the spirit of Gould.

The days you will spend here are few in the eons of time. Your visit must be touched by the sweat of study, the cheers for a school team, the frivolous enchantment of a first formal and the warm hello of classmate and teacher at the beginning of a new year. You must become a part of Gould. Let the final tally show not just four years at Gould, but four years of work and play that will do honor to your school. YOU are Gould. You will receive from Gould only what you

Faculty Footnotes

MISS BOYCE

Upon observation, one can see that there are several new faces among the faculty members. One of them is Miss Dorothy A. Boyce, the new librarian here at Gould.

Miss Boyce claims Cape Elizabeth as her home town and completed her high school education at Cape Elizabeth High. She graduated from Bates College and during the past year, worked for her Master's Degree at Simmons, in Boston.

Miss Boyce taught English and civics for one year at North Yarmouth Academy, Yarmouth, Maine.

Among hobbies, she lists as her favorites: knitting, reading, and listening to music. She is an avid sports spectator, enjoys sea food such as lobster, and her ambition is to go to Sweden.

Miss Boyce likes it very much here at Gould and as one can see, she is doing a terrific job at keeping up the library.

Let's extend a hearty welcome to a new member of the Gould Academy faculty, Miss Boyce!

MISS HALL

Miss Hall, one of the four new teachers at Gould this year, is an important addition to our English staff.

She was born and raised in Rumford, and, upon graduation from Stephens High, attended the University of Maine. Having finished her schooling there, Miss Hall decided to spend one summer of study at Middlebury College. All her life teaching has been her chosen profession, and she had made English her special subject.

Before coming to Gould, she had spent the past five school seasons teaching at Maine Central Institute and the summers as head waiter at the Atlantic House at Scarborough Beach.

From her experience at M. C. I., Miss Hall said that she has seen no noticeable change in teenagers since her own high school days.

Her hobbies are reading and records with a tendency toward semi-classical music.

Miss Hall thinks that one of Gould's biggest assets is that it has opportunities for all of its students. The sports programs and the clubs give everyone a chance to find something he or she can do well; she was also impressed with our library.

With her teaching experience and liking for young people, Miss Hall should be a credit to the school. She is capable and understanding and will be a big help to all. We hope she will be with us for a long time.

STUDENT COUNCIL

During the first week of school the Student Council met to elect officers for this year. They are as follows: President, Alan Ordway; Vice President, Heath Sandbach; Secretary, Sara Ault; Treasurer, Richard Groyer.

Representatives chosen last spring for the underclassmen are: Juniors: Betsy Chapman, Ruth Willard, Bobby Felt and Linwood Small; sophomores: Sue Martin, Susan Saunders, Peter Wheeler, and Chuck Eyyper.

The Council swung into full action almost immediately, selare willing to give. You are honored with the privilege of calling yourself a standard-bearer of Gould. You will represent Gould; you are its heralds.

You are fortunate to have these facilities which you will enjoy. Many men toiled long in making them a reality. Use them wisely. Many of you will shudder at the sound of the word "rules." Life cannot be lived to its fullest without a disciplined and orderly program. Your observance of these rules may determine the very existence of Gould. One cigarette could erase many years of labor.

Your scholastic record, which you will build in the ensuing years, will put on you a trademark of good or bad quality, depending on you. Make these years of study rich and rewarding by hard work and perseverance.

This is your school, whose name you will fashion by your words, actions, and deeds. May Gould, because of your actions and standards, be able to proudly call you one of its own.

MR. AUGER

Once again as we start another year at Gould new members are added to the faculty. Mr. Gilles B. Auger, instructor of all French classes, is perhaps the most widely known, being the only young man, and a bachelor at that!

Seriously though, Mr. Auger is a native of Sanford, Maine, where he received his preparatory education. He then attended the University of Maine and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree. This past summer he completed a two month session at the same institution, working toward an advanced degree. He joins Gould Academy, having come from the faculty of Lubec High School, where he taught French last year.

Mr. Auger's favorite pastime is reading French literature. He enjoys outdoor sports, especially hunting, fishing, and mountain climbing.

Few students ever dread, or are late to French classes, for Mr. Auger's quick wit and humor, combined with a pleasing personality, have won him countless friends on our campus.

MISS HEAL

Although she was actually born in Millinocket, Maine, Miss Heal considers East Millinocket her home town. While living there she entered into several town activities, including girl scout work, supervising the playground, and assisting in different drives, such as the Cancer Fund and Community Chest.

On her vacations, Miss Heal has traveled through several of the Eastern states and up around Canada. When asked whether she preferred town or city life, Miss Heal stated that she likes both and thinks each has much to offer! However, she would take the town to the city if forced to make a choice.

Before coming to Gould, Miss Heal taught at both the St. Margaret School in Waterbury, Connecticut, and Millinocket's Stearns High. She thinks that teaching is a very desirable position, and her life of helping people and working with groups has helped to make her career an enjoyable one.

Miss Heal has always had an interest in mathematics, and majored in math during college—her reasons for choosing this subject as a teaching profession.

Her hobbies include sewing, collecting records, and sports (particularly swimming). She is also quite fond of speed boating. When asked what her first impressions of Gould were, she replied that the school is very pleasant, and has a comfortable, relaxing, and friendly atmosphere.

The student body welcomes you, Miss Heal, and hopes that teaching at Gould will be an enjoyable experience.

ecting the new cheerleaders and majorettes.

With a full program and great ambitions, the council has hopes for a busy and useful year.

Incidentally, freshmen, you might be considering a boy and girl representative from your class who will be chosen at a later date.

Klass Kapers

Seniors:

Since the opening of school, the senior class hasn't had much time to pile up honors or foment much activity. Their main achievement so far has been to elect class officers, which are as follows: President, Al Ordway; Vice president, Jim Hill; Secretary, Heath Sandbach; Treasurer, Mimi Ascraft. Congratulations!

By having the strongest set of class lungs, the seniors were able to win the Interclass contest for the loudest cheering at the first rally!

One night, the last of September, a certain Senior Home Ec. girl made a lovely Baked Alaska and threw a feast for the senior dorm girls in the new Rec Room. It was rumored to have been out of this world, Judy Brown!

That's about it for this time, but "read in" next issue, same column, for additional senior Kapers!

Juniors:

The Junior Class of Gould Academy has many new members this year.

On September thirtieth our first class meeting of the year was held. At this meeting, we discussed the election of officers, and it was voted to have a nominating committee which would be appointed by the president, Harriet Kneeland. This committee will decide upon nominees for each of the offices. These names will be posted on the bulletin board and the balloting will be held on October tenth.

On Parents' Weekend our class was well represented with sixty-four per cent in attendance. Congratulations to you, "Bev" Back and Jane Greig, for making the cheer-leading squad!

Let's give a hand to our Juniors who are in the glee clubs and band.

We're mighty proud of you, "D. J." Biggs, for being one of the four majorettes this year.

Three cheers for our Junior Class boys who are on the football team, for the boys out for track, for the girls who made the tennis and field hockey teams, and for all the rest of our Junior Class who are participating in the athletic program!

Let's keep up the good work and keep our class up where it belongs—at the top!

Sophomores:

On September 26, 1957, the sophomores held their first class meeting of the year. The purpose of this meeting was to choose a nominating committee for class officers and a committee to select a ring for the class of '60. The committee selected as nominating committee for class officers consists of Peter Karpowich, Kent Taylor, Gloria Kneeland, Sandra Cole and Sam Appleton.

After the closing of nominations, the ring committee was selected; the members consist of Sue Saunders, Doug Rice, Beth Brown, John Luke, Sandra Lapham, Donald Christie, Sue Martin and Chuck Eyyper.

The choices of the boys and girls for these committees were wise ones; they should do honor to the sophomore class with their selections of candidates and rings.

Freshmen:

Plans for the Freshman Party, which will be held on November 15, 1957, are well underway. It is being organized by the Girls' Guidance Groups.

Lorenda Freeman was chosen as one of the majorettes. Congratulations, Lorenda!

Carolyn Chapman has been spending a few days in Springfield, Massachusetts, to sell and exhibit the steer which she raised.

The feminine half of the Freshman Class elected Mary Willard as their representative to the Girls' Athletic Association. We're sure you will do a good job, Mary!

Summer Travels

Summertime holds a certain fascination for all of us, and this past season proved to be no exception as far as the extensive travels of some of Gould's students were concerned. Numerous adventures of varying character were experienced by those who were fortunate enough to have the opportunity of visiting other sections of the United States as well as other parts of the globe.

Beth Brown, a sophomore, took to the sea in the early part of June in order to reach the shores of Norway and Denmark. She crossed the Atlantic in a Norwegian liner, "The Bergenfjord," which had a capacity of one hundred and twenty-five persons, including the crew members. The voyage lasted for eight days, and during this time, Beth saw a movie and attended several organized events.

In Norway the Brown family visited one of the larger cities, Bergen, and were amazed to find so many modernistic hotels in this Scandinavian land. So that they might be able to see more of the countryside without a guided tour, the Browns rented a Volkswagen bus for a period of five days.

ALUMNI NEWS

Something new has been added to the Blue and Gold staff this year in the person of Wally, the roving reporter. He makes a habit of visiting Gould's alumni to find out just what they are doing; then he relays the news back to the newspaper.

There will be no actual news for the article this time, because Wally hasn't begun his travels, but the next issue will be jammed with news of his meetings with the alumni.

Wally was pleased to see so many former Gould students back on campus attending the Parents' Weekend festivities. Eddie White Mason, Clint Mason and their little daughter, Sue Stowell, Terry Russell, Pat Allen, and Arthur Mills, looking very nice in his Army uniform, were all among the visiting alumni.

From Norway they proceeded to Denmark and stayed in the picturesque city of Copenhagen. While in this particular area, they toured the famed Tivoli Gardens and viewed the changing of guards at one of the palaces.

Generally, Beth said that the scenery was much like that of Maine, although the climate was a great deal colder; too, there was some evidence of snow in the mountainous regions. Both countries were very picturesque; the people were quite friendly, but had difficulty speaking English; the food was unusual in that it was highly spiced and specific meals such as breakfast offered an entirely different selection of goods as compared to the pattern we follow here in the States. It may then be concluded that this summer was certainly an exciting and rewarding one for Beth Brown.

Bill Ide, a senior this year, had the experience of working on a dude ranch this summer in Valley, Wyoming. The trip took two days and entailed traveling by airplane and train. Bill's duties were, doing chores and maintaining the general upkeep of the ranch. He worked with seven other youths and somehow managed to fit riding and an occasional trip to a nearby, modern town, Cody, into his schedule.

When asked about the scenery and landscape, Bill replied that there were a great many trees, mountains, and plains—the Midwest seemed to be one gigantic plain in itself!! The ranch was a rather large resort and accommodated one hundred and fifty persons; there were also quite a few head of cattle on the property. The food was wonderful, but the quarters could have been improved upon.

All in all, it was a most enjoyable summer for Bill, even to the very last moment when he was involved, indirectly, in a minor train wreck while on the way back to New Hampshire.

Clubs

The French Club had its first meeting, a very informal one, on September 18th in Hanscom Hall under the direction of Mr. Auger, Gould's new and popular French teacher. It is hoped that all students in their second or third year of French will join the club!

The Chapman Club, composed of the best musicians of Gould, is directed by Mr. Marcuse. This organization sponsors the operettas that are staged biennially at Gould.

The Outing Club caters to athletically-minded students of Gould, sponsoring trips relevant to the season. With Mr. Richardson as faculty advisor, some members have already taken two hikes this fall, and more are scheduled.

At the Camera Club's first meeting on September seventeenth, election of officers by the old members was held. Under the direction of Mr. Foster, this club provides an opportunity for interested students to learn as much as they wish about photography.

Hikers Conquer

MT. WASHINGTON HIKE

Saturday, September twenty-first dawned cloudy. For some, this looked foreboding, as it promised a poor view from the summit of Mount Washington; promptly at 8:00 a. m., however, a group of forty-one students from both the dormitory and town, clambered into the buses and accompanied by Miss Duffy, Mr. Auger and Mr. Richardson set out in fine spirits.

Upon arrival at the foot of Mt. Washington, the group was disappointed by a slight drizzle; it was decided that they would halt at the half-way house before continuing.

After passing Tuokerman's Ravine trail each person set his pace and found his own hiking companions. The first enthusiasts to arrive at the half-way house had plenty of time to drink from a nearby stream and be fully refreshed before the last group came panting in. The weather looked more and more promising, so all that were able, pushed on—straight ahead and up! A few were forced to turn back at that point, for the going now was to become far worse.

At the basin of the headwall everyone paused for lunch. A sudden break in the clouds provided the hungry hikers with a breathtaking view of the surrounding countryside.

Then came the last, most difficult part to conquer—the narrow path over the headwall and the murderous last quarter over large rocks. By this time it was so foggy and wet that the now dead-tired hikers could barely see five feet ahead. Up and up they groped. A shout went up—the first band had reached the road. New strength sprung from somewhere and soon everyone was inside the hotel on the summit, buying postcards and hot coffee. After about forty-five minutes for rest and observation, the descent descended to the road where two groups were formed—those who wished to

MT. CARIBOU HIKE

On Saturday morning, September 14, 1957, forty-five eager students started the trudge up Mt. Caribou.

The first was an easy climb, but shortly after the second mile sign, the quick stepping climbers slowed down considerably; stops at the springs for drinks and rest were more frequent now.

After another mile and a half, the students finally reached the rocky, somewhat flat summit.

The wind was coolly refreshing, and how good those oranges tasted!

After lunch, groups could be seen flattened out on the rocks trying to absorb the last of the hot sun, locating points of interest with telescopes and binoculars, or roaming around the granite ledges.

After an hour of fun, the group started down; this being much easier, conversation and joking picked up.

At the half way mark, five of the hikers were seen swimming in a chilly pool, while others, not quite so daring, lounged about the edge exchanging the comments on the trip.

Finally the bottom was reached.

Everyone agreed that the trip and view were well worth the aching feet, skinned knees and sore muscles.

Many thanks to Mr. Richardson, Mr. Brewster, and Ma and Chef for making the Mt. Caribou hike a successful one.

brave the trail again and those who desired to accompany Mr. Auger down the eight-mile auto road.

At last the totally exhausted and foot-sore mountain climbers made it safely back to the buses, where everyone collapsed into their seats.

Thus, Mt. Washington had been conquered by Gould students again. Another successful excursion remains a pleasant memory.

GOULD TROUNCES BRIDGTON

In their first game of the season against Bridgton High, on September 21, Gould proved to everyone present that she had a real football team. The squad has been training hard since September 5, and it has already started to pay off. An excited and determined group of rooters accompanied their team. The starting lineup for Gould was: Whitten, L. E.; Ordway, L. T.; Tallon, L. G.; Ide, C.; Murphy, R. G.; Wight, R. T.; Cummings, R. E.; Gallagher, Q. B.; Hill, L. H. B.; Nichols, R. H. B.; Smith, F. B. Substitutes for Gould were: Sumner, White, Hathaway, Karpowich, Black, Watson, Todd, Luke, Aluisy, and Butters. Gould kicked off to Bridgton to start the game in motion.

Shortly after Gould had the ball for the first time, Gerry Smith plunged through the center and ran all the way for the first T. D. of the game; however, there was no further score in the first quarter of play.

In the second quarter, Jim Hill pulled a clever play, leaving Bridgton frozen in their tracks; he ran hard all the way to Bridgton's two yard line where he was finally drawn to a halt. Smith plowed across for Gould's second T. D. White passed to Sumner for the extra point. Later in the same quarter of play, Smith again ran all the way for a T. D. This time around right end. Hill rushed the extra point making the score stand at 20-0 at the half.

In the third quarter of play the Huskies began to lose power. Bridgton scored a T. D. on a long pass in the end zone, and then kicked the extra point. In the fourth quarter, Gould held the Bridgton boys back. There was no further scoring in the fourth quarter, thus leaving the final score at 20-7.

HOCKEY: GOULD VS. KENTS HILL

On Parents' Day, October 5, at 10:00 a. m., with much pep and determination, the girls' varsity hockey team rushed onto the athletic field bound to do their best to show Kents Hill some action. Cheered on by the visiting parents, teachers, and fellow Gouldites, the girls put up a good fight in the first half, charging up and down the field, trying valiantly for goals. When time was called at the end of twenty minutes, the score stood 1-0 in favor of Kents Hill.

CROSS COUNTRY PROSPECTS

When Mr. Berry, the new cross country coach, met with his prospective team, he faced a group of almost twenty boys. Over half of these boys had never run cross country before. He began immediately to get them all in shape for the season. Although there is only one letterman on the squad, there is some new talent and the season should be a good one. Returning from last year are the following: Captain R. Grover, L. Small, K. Newsom, D. Angevine, T. Carter and H. Brown. New to the Gould cross country squad are the following: G. Elliot, D. Hobson, J. Vinton, S. Yeaton, J. Newsom, R. Grover, F. Lincoln, R. Coulombe, R. Saunders, S. Clark, P. Wheeler, E. Bernier, and R. Roberts. R. Ward is the manager with E. Mitchell and R. Parsons as assistants.

NEW FOOTBALL CANDIDATES

With the opening of practice on September 3 for the Huskies, Coach Scott, ably supported by Coaches Kailey and Roderick, saw over half of his squad showing up for the first time. Many have caught on quickly, however, and should see considerable action this season, both on the varsity and j. v. teams. The new men, making up an even 58% of the team, consist of: Steve Aluisy (back), Jay Balano (tackle), Jim Bartlett (center), Jim Bennett (tackle), Ken Bennett (back), John Bergerson (tackle), Bill Call (guard), Fred Dallinger (back), Newt Ferris (guard), Dick Groves (end), Dennis Grenier (end), Mike Hathaway (tackle), Jeff Hutchins (back), Pete Karpowich (end), John Kelly (guard), Davy Jones (guard), David Marsh (back), George Morse (guard), David Myers (tackle), Tim Race (center), Don Rice (back), Ken Ring (end), David Salway (back), Roger Tibbetts (end), Steve Watson (end), Bob Weston (end), Ben White (back), Guy Whitten (end), Dick York (center).

After a ten minute rest period with both teams possessing renewed vigor, the battle was on again, this time with Peg Luke scoring for the Huskies. Kents Hill also made another goal, and as time ran out, the home team having been unable to make a tying score, the visitors were the victor. Final score: Kents Hill 2; Gould Academy 1.

Now it was the junior varsity's chance to show their skills.

GOULD VS. SOUTH PARIS

Trailing 12-0 in the third quarter, the Gould Huskies, in their first home game of the season, unleashed a three-touchdown attack and beat South Paris, 18-12.

South Paris first scored in the second quarter when King plunged over for the touchdown. They scored again midway in the third quarter when Gatchell drove over the line after Swan had connected with him on a twenty-seven-yard pass in the preceding play. Their offensive attack was then checked.

Gould came to life late in the third quarter. After Hill and Sumner had made long gains with the linemen contributing good blocking, Hill drove through the Paris line to score the first touchdown for the Huskies. In the fourth quarter, Gould scored a second time as Sumner ran fourteen yards around the right end. The final and winning touchdown came on a forward pass from White to Whitten, after which Whitten ran seven yards for the score.

Defensive highlights included blocked punts by Gould's Black and So. Paris's Pike. Also, for Gould, Sumner intercepted two passes and Nichols grabbed one.

At the first half progressed, the girls did show their prowess, and Gould came through at the end of twenty minutes with three goals, Kents Hill not scoring.

In the second half, the visiting team came through with one goal, but the Huskies went them two better, scorers for Gould being Sue Saunders, Donna Smith, and Ann Carter. Final score: Gould 6; Kents Hill 1.

NORWAY SWAMPS GOULD

Saturday, October 5, saw the Huskies on their home field, playing host to Norway High, before a large Parents' Day crowd. The action got under way promptly at 2:00 with Norway kicking to Gould. Sumner grabbed the ball on his own 30 and made it to the 42, where he was downed. Smith carried the ball to Norway's 20 on a beautiful break-away run through the middle, and Nichols crashed over from the 6 to climax the drive. Gould failed to convert. Norway came back in the first part of the second period, scoring from eight yards out and rushing the extra point, to make the score 7-6. Nichols took the Norway kick-off on his own 20 and ran it back to the 40. Norway recovered a Gould fumble, but lost the ball on a beautiful pass interception by Sumner, who ran the ball into Norway's territory. Norway again followed their opponents' example by a 68 yard march, score, and conversion, wrapping up the action in the first half. In the third period Gould got under way when Black recovered a fumble on Norway's 40. White's quarterback sneak from the 5 put Gould once more in the lead, 19-14. ## BACK TO SPORTS AGAIN, GIRLS

This year 179 girls, the largest number yet, are participating in the daily gym classes.

This fall the girls are taking part in such activities as field hockey, archery, soccer, speedball, and a newly added feature, physical fitness.

This winter the girls' activities include vigorous games of volleyball and basketball, along with pingpong, badminton, and recreational games. Modern, social and square dancing will also be taken up. Tumbling, apparatus, and once more, the trampoline will be for the girls' use this winter.

Far off in the spring, activities will consist of archery, tennis, softball, and other new activities, track and field work. Throughout the year the upper-class girls will be working on advanced skills and officiating, while the freshmen will work on the elementary rules of the various sports.

Miss Duffy is sure that this will be a great year! Not only is there a lot of new equipment for all the sports, but also a great of enthusiasm and appreciation for the real need to develop all-around girls. The main purpose this year is to improve physical fitness and posture, in hopes of developing social and recreational skills for use now as well as later as adults.
